

HOMES 2017 Music Licenses

Form 7

If you intend to play music on your stand during the course of exhibitions, you are required by law to obtain music licences.

Phonographic Performance Ltd (PPL) administers licensing of sound recordings for most recorded music played in the UK. It issues a licence and levies a tariff on the broadcasting and public performance (which includes exhibition stands) of such recordings on behalf of the record companies.

Performing Right Society (PRS) licences the performance of almost all musical works commonly played in the UK. It issues a licence and levies a tariff on the broadcasting and public performance (which includes exhibition stands) on behalf of the writers and the publishers of the music itself. Music by any means including CD, tape, radio, DVD, video and live performers is licensed by PRS.

It is our position that exhibitors are solely responsible for obtaining any licence required to play music on their stand. However, an administrative arrangement can be entered into between an organiser and the PPL and PRS for a licence to be obtained on your behalf. You will, in due course, be invoiced for the cost of your licences.
